

Division of Environmental Studies

Graduate Program in Sustainability Science – Global Leadership Initiative

Laboratory	Faculty	Introduction of research activities and laboratory	Key words	Projects or activities summer program students can participate
Policy and Governance for Sustainability Lab (GPSS-GLI)	Assoc. Prof. Toshinori TANAKA	I'm interested in nature/culture conservation law/policy/organization aiming local/national/global sustainable development. Also, I'm interested in how public-private collaboration/partnership is emerging in fields of conservation, tourism, international cooperation, production/consumption, etc. See below for my interests. 1) Nature/Culture Conservation Law and Policy: analysis of governance structures of protected areas that include people's livelihood and human activities within the boundary (e.g. Japan's National Parks, UNESCO's Biosphere Reserve, etc.). These new types of protected areas can be regarded as living laboratories for sustainable development. 2) Implementation of International Environmental Agreements/Multilevel Governance (World Heritage Convention, Ramsar Convention, UNESCO MAB Programme, Flyway Partnership, etc.) . 3) Management of natural tourism resources on small islands. 4) Analysis of bureaucracy and administrative history related to sustainability. http://www.k.u-tokyo.ac.jp/prose/person/toshinori_tanaka/toshinori_tanaka.htm	Environmental Policy; Nature/Culture Conservation; Sustainable Tourism; UNESCO Biosphere Reserve; World Heritage	I will assign suitable project(s) based on participant's background and capacity. Participant can join below lecture/seminars. Weekly Trans-disciplinary seminar (GPSS-GLI seminar every Friday) Lectures (Management and Policy Studies for Sustainability, etc.) Socials (get-together, short trip, fieldwork *based on availability)