

Special Scholarship Program for International Students The University of Tokyo Fellowship (Todai Fellowship)

Graduate School of Frontier Sciences

FY2021 Application Guidelines

The Todai Fellowship provides financial support to international students of excellent academic achievement in their academic research in the doctoral courses of The University of Tokyo by granting a scholarship (hereinafter referred to as the “Todai Fellowship”) as well as promotes the admission of international students from various countries.

1. Eligibility

- a. Those who entered a doctoral course of the Graduate School of Frontier Sciences in April 2021
- b. Those who hold a valid visa to stay in Japan as a “College Student” as prescribed in Appendix 1 of the Immigration Control and Refugee Recognition Act (Order No. 319 of October 4, 1951) as of his/her enrollment.

Note

Those applying and/or planning to apply for fellowships or scholarships provided by private organizations are, in principle, ineligible.

2. Number of Recipients in GSFS

April 2021                      1

3. Stipend

JPY 200,000/month

If a student who has applied for a tuition exemption to the University becomes a recipient of this fellowship, the tuition fee exemption application must be withdrawn. In addition, receiving scholarships from any other organization is prohibited once you become a Fellowship recipient.

4. Period of Payment

Three years

If any Fellowship recipient is deemed to be on a leave of absence, absent from school for an inordinately long period of time, fails to accomplish expected academic achievement, or is expelled from The University, the payment of the Fellowship will be suspended or be rescinded. Detailed information will be provided at the time of Fellowship acceptance.
